November 2019

The Revolutionary War Alliance of Burlington County Thursday, November 7th at 7:30pm- Friends Meeting, 14 Union Street

Many important events happened in Burlington County during the American Revolution. This county provided men and material for the war effort, but actual battles occurred right here as well. Join the Rev War Alliance of Burlington County for the last of three programs this fall and learn just how important Burlington County was during this world changing time. The first lecture gave an overview of the Revolution and revealed where men of Burlington County were during some of the more famous battles of the war. The second lecture told us about sites in Burlington County where the fighting actually occurred. From December of 1776 to June 1778 Burlington County was buzzing with activity from both armies trying to gain a strategic advantage. Our final presentation on Thursday, November 7 at 7:30 p.m., tells the story of the American Revolution from a woman's point of view. Meet the women of Burlington County who, in many cases, influenced the outcome of the war.

Members of the Rev War Alliance will have artifacts on display and can answer questions after the lectures.

Light refreshments will be available.

SONGS OF THE SEASON; Charlie Zahm

Songs of the Holidays will ring out once again as Charlie Zahm's powerful baritone fills the room with traditional carols and other songs of the season. A local favorite, Charlie's beautiful voice and masterful guitar playing make him one of the most popular soloists of authentic Celtic music. However, Charlie is also known for his renditions of maritime and spiritual songs and for collecting traditional music up and down the East Coast of Canada and the United States. In addition to the guitar, he often incorporates a tin whistle and
